LEVINSKY TOO MUCH FOR JACK DILLON

Boston, Oct. 24.—Battling Levinsky, of Bridgeport, Conn., claimed the light-heavyweight championship of America to-night after outpointing Jack Dillon, of Indianapolis, in a twelve-round bout. The referee's decision was undisputed.

Levinsky had whatever advantage there was in every round except the fifth. He rocked Dillon at times with both rights and lefts and showed his ability to take repeated punches without apparent loss of strength. Dillon seemed to lack his usual aggressiveness, while Levinsky added to his usual strong defence an offensive that was compelling.

With the Typical English Notch

THE difference in time between London and New York makes a "morning coat" there an afternoon coat here.

The cutaway, perennially proper, is now indispensable.

Here are two coats and waistcoats—one button and immaculate form-fitting.

One is for the man with occasional social obligations.

In black or Oxford unfinished worsted, with silk-lined sleeves. Just as correct as a coat can be made, and doesn't overtax an allowance—$25.

The other, $40, is of herringbone Vicuna, black or Oxford, full silk lined—for the man that wants the best he can find, at half the price the Fifth Avenue tailor would charge.

Both have the typical English lapel notch. Striped trousers, $6 to $12.

SUSPECT PLOT IN RESTRAINT OF BOXING TRADE

By W. O. M'GEEHAN

It begins to look like a cold winter for the gently nurtured young men of the pugilistic profession. The chill blasts of November are on the way, and it is by no means certain that Madison Square Garden, where the brethren of the cauliflower ear demonstrate their art, will be open on time. The Weinert-Mohr bout, scheduled for the thirty-first of the month, may be called off.

Pugilists and their managers are beginning to suspect a plot on the part of the promoters to keep down the rates paid for fighters. More than one boxer has voiced the belief that Jimmie Johnston, Dan McKittrick, John Weinstein and other promoters have formed a combination in restraint of trade, in violation of the Sherman law. John the Barber is also suspected of being in the plot.

The scheme, according to the complainants, is to wait until the snow lies before opening the boxing season in earnest. By that time the promoters figure that boxers who have held out for fancy prices and guarantees will be willing to perform for the price of anything nourishing.

Some of the boxers are determined not to be cut down by this plot. They assert that they will go to work before they will have their prestige lowered. The chances are that if there is a rush of snow this winter the populace will be treated to the sight of some of the heroes of the local prize ring bucking the drifts.

Some of the boxers are, of course, in a position to hold out against the fight. Frank Charles Moran has a little of the Willard money left and has settled down on a small farm on Staten Island. If the worst comes to the worst, he can always return to the yearning footlights.

Fighters like Bob Mohr, who got only $45 for his first fight here, will find the working of the fight trust harder to combat. Mohr is a person of one talent, a right to the jaw. If the plot succeeds there will be nothing for him to do but to give an imitation of a snow plough. Judging from the way in which he removed Joe Cox from the ring, he should be able to disturb a considerable quantity of snow in the course of an eight-hour day.

James Johnston, the Madison Square matchmaker, who is suspected of being the main mover of the alleged fight trust, denied that there was such a combination.

Both have the typical English lapel notch. Striped trousers, $6 to $12.
